

EFFICIENTLY STANDARDIZE SPI REFERENCE LIBRARIES

PROMOTE CONSISTENCY, ASSIST PROJECT DESIGNERS

Beaconsuite™ Library transfers your SPI Reference Library wiring standards from database to database. Library will save hundreds of engineering hours that would otherwise be spent rebuilding representations of the wiring entities in multiple SPI databases.

Library helps SPI Administrators keep on top of Reference Library changes promoting consistency across databases. Consistent wiring standards enables consistent deliverable representations and reduces designer confusion and work.

BENEFITS

Promotes consistent representation of wiring entities across multiple databases e.g. Cables, Panels, Panel Strips, DCS & PLC Cards

Saves projects hundreds of hours as the setup time is reduced significantly

Assists with change management by visually reporting differences between two SPI database Reference Libraries

Easy to use, no advanced skill sets required, no knowledge of SQL writing or SPI importing required

FEATURES

Copies Reference Library wiring entities including configurations between SPI databases

Displays two SPI database Reference Libraries side by side making it easy to see differences

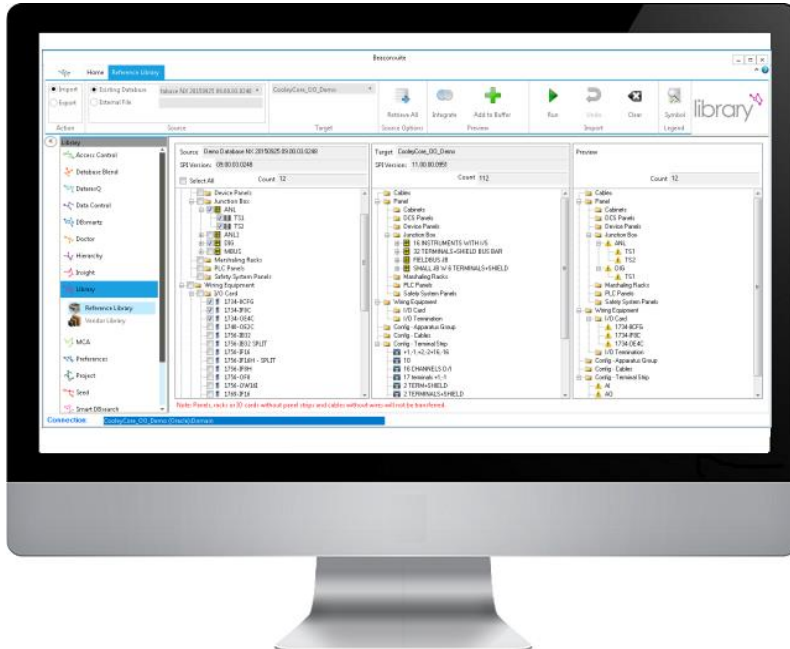

Easy to use interface enables global or customized Reference Library selections (for copying into target database)

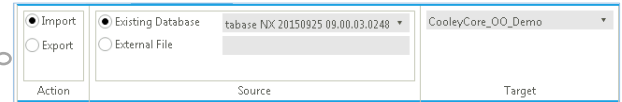

Preview all proposed Reference Library alignments prior to executing the copy into the target database

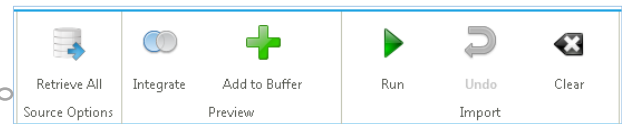

Align Reference Libraries across SPI versions

Visually see
source, target and future state
